Prior to her arrival at BrownFlynn, Marissa studied Communications and Journalism at John Carroll University, where she was a three-year editor for The Carroll News. During her undergraduate years, Marissa was also an editorial intern for Cleveland Magazine. No stranger to excellent customer relations, Marissa worked as a guest service representative for Jo-Ann Fabric and Craft Stores for four years, before joining the Northeast Ohio Sourcing Office, a local non-profit organization specializing in group purchasing initiatives. Marissa is currently working on her Masters of Communications Management at JCU. A lifelong Cleveland resident, Marissa hopes to become more involved in local volunteering organizations upon completing her graduate degree this winter.
